

A clean BBQ makes for healthier, safer grilling

If you hate to clean your BBQ—let Ovenu™ do it for you.

Ovenu Bergen County now provides detailing services for barbeques just in time for the summer season. Ovenu has added this service to their core business of detailing ovens, stove tops, exhaust hoods and other cooking related appliances.

“We’ve found that traditional self-cleaning methods and store-bought sprays don’t get your barbeque truly clean” said Jeffrey Krentzman, Director of Operations for Ovenu. “We provide a detailing service that removes all traces of grease, fat and carbon deposits, especially in places you can’t see or clean with traditional methods.”

Ovenu also specializes in professional detailing of your home oven. Ovenu will come to your home, remove key components of cooking appliances and deeply clean them in their specially equipped vans. The racks, control dials, doors, grills and hoods are all degreased and detailed with environmentally friendly treatments. The result is the cleanest appliance that can be achieved in the marketplace today, which means safer, healthier meals for your family.

Their customers are reporting phenomenal results. Karen Young of Montvale said; “When we purchased our condo 3 years ago, the oven was filthy. We tried cleaning it ourselves but we were never happy with the results. Two techs and one hour later, Ovenu made our oven look brand new. We can’t thank them enough for making it so much easier.”

Jeff Krentzman believes this is a common need; “With Americans showing no signs of relaxing their packed daily schedules, the ‘Do-It-Yourself’ movement is shrinking. Instead, the ‘Do-It-For-Me,’ movement is the future.”

Since its inception in 1994, Ovenu franchises have cleaned more than one million appliances. There are more than 100 franchisees internationally, providing expert cleaning and detailing services in the UK, Ireland, Spain, Norway and Australia. Ovenu North America established its first franchise right here in Bergen County.

“We’re really starting to get out there to demonstrate what a difference professional detailing makes to customers. Seeing is believing” says Jeff Krentzman. “Just give us a call for a quote, 1-888-296-8368.”
